

Reasons to Attend the NASEMSO Annual Meeting 2023

The National Association of State EMS Officials (NASEMSO) is the collective voice of the nation's emergency medical services systems. We focus on national EMS policy with comprehensive concern and commitment for the development of effective, integrated, community-based, universal and consistent EMS systems.

We are the only organization in the country that is comprised of state-level EMS directors, medical directors, and program managers in data, personnel licensure, health and medical preparedness, trauma systems, EMS education and pediatric emergency care. Our members are experienced professionals who stay abreast of cutting-edge health technology and medical science to ensure the very best in prehospital care. Our 2022 gathering included over 300 participants, with representatives from nearly every state and as well as national EMS policymakers in attendance.

The NASEMSO Annual Meeting is small enough to afford valuable opportunities for networking but large enough to attract speakers, federal, corporate and association partners who matter to EMS.

The state EMS officials who attend our annual meeting consistently report that it is the most important and informative meeting they attend all year.

Detailed information about the program is available at 2023 Annual Meeting Program.